ROB CHICAGO BANK MESSENGERS OF $638,000

FOUR BANDITS HOLD THEM UP ON STREET CAR

WHEN THEY WERE CARRYING NEGOTIABLE CHECKS TO OUT-LYING BANKS

ESCAPED BY JUMPING FROM CAR AND HAILING A PASSING TAXICAB

(By United Press)

Chicago, April 15—Four bandits held up two messengers from the Chicago Clearing House today and escaped with $638,000 in negotiable checks.

The two messengers left the clearing house office at 9 A. M. to carry the checks to outlying banks.

The four bandits, who apparently had followed them from the clearing house, boarded the train immediately after the messengers.

When the train reached Twentieth street all four bandits pulled revolvers. Two covered the five passengers and the other two covered the messengers. The satchel containing the checks were snatched from the messengers' hands.

The conductor entered the car and the bandits ordered him to stop the train immediately. As the brakes were applied and the train slowed down the bandits leaped from the train and jumped over a fence and hailed a passing taxi. One of the messengers set out to follow the bandits but gave up the chase when one of them emptied a revolver as they boarded the auto.

One Husband Disfigured, Another Has No Job, So She Left With the Third

(United Press)

Grand Island, Neb., April 15—Another love triangle became a parallel-gram today when two husbands of the same woman mobilized and were on the way to catch a "love bandit."

This came when the husbands came home to the flat and found this note from Frances Smith Yates McCracken:

"Dear Roy and Guy: I am leaving with George McDonald and going east to be happy. Roy, the war left you disfigured, and Guy, you have not a job. I love George."

Frances married Roy before the war. He went to France and was reported killed. Then she married Guy McCormick, after which Roy came marching home from war and denied he was dead. While Roy and George were arguing about Frances, she left and married a railroad man of Chicago.

(United Press)

Tokio, April 15—The Japanese war office favors a joint reply by Japan, France and England to the American note on the Yap mandate, but fears England and France will not support the position of Japan, according to the newspaper Hachi.

The paper said the foreign office took the view that a complete communication system is an important fruit of the war and therefore will not consider any plans for an international administration of Yap.

Beltrami Sleuth Refused New Trial

(By United Press)

St. Paul, April 15—Frank Storey, Beltrami county dry sleuth, who gum-shoed his way into the penitentiary must stay. The supreme court today refused a new trial on charges of perjury on which he was convicted in 1919.

Storey was hired by Beltrami county attorneys to spot bootleggers. He did. But he failed to show up at the trial of Joseph Thiebel. He was arrested and forced to testify. The evidence he gave failed to tally with that given prosecutors previously, so Storey was convicted of perjury.

Preliminary preparations for the clash were commenced today by the dries whose ranks were bolstered by the new member from Maryland, Representative Philip Hill, of Baltimore, who unexpectedly tossed in a bill to repeal the Volstead act.

Representative Volstead accepted Hill's challenge. He is chairman of the judiciary committee and will report on the Hill bill. He made clear every effort would be made to throttle the "booze bill."

(United Press)

Between $200,000,000 and $500,000,000 of this should be paid to the government in income and excess profits taxes. So far, as tax records show, no profits earned by bootleggers were reported or paid in taxes.

EMERGENCY TARIFF BILL BEING DISCUSSED

(United Press)

Washington, April 15—Agricultural distress was emphasized today by emergency tariff bill advocates in the house. They declared the wheat farmers, sheep and cattle raisers will be ruined unless emergency tariff protection is given them at once.

While tariff debate was on, Representative Frier, of Wisconsin, introduced a resolution for an investigation of the alleged activities of Julius, Jacob and Meyer Rothschild, of New York, who, he charged, are organizing a campaign in favor of the sales tax and raising nearly one million dollars to force its adoption by congress.

"Each has asked for thousands of fifty dollar contributions, and already has a well financed machine at work in Washington," said Frier.

"The people are entitled to know what interests are trying to force this tax on the people of the country."

Democrats opposing, replied that the bill is "moonshine" and a "fraud."

Debate was limited to five minutes under rules and the bill was scheduled to pass today.

Representative Young, republican, of North Dakota, declared "good times" are returning with the restoration power of the emergency tariff.

Cheaper Steel Will Bring Down Prices

(United Press)

Washington, April 15—Drastic reduction in price announced by Judge Albert H. Gary of the United States steel corporation, may precipitate a second country-wide wave of price cutting, it was believed today.

"At least cheaper steel will tend to bring down prices of scores of commodities of every day use," said Ethelbert Steward, government price expert, today. "It may be some weeks before the public will experience the benefit but result is certain if the lower steel prices are maintained."

Army Canned Meat May Help Feed Europe

(United Press)

Washington, April 15—"The American people are not a canned meat eating race," Secretary of War John W. Weeks says in his letter to congress made public yesterday, appealing for lifting the ban on sale of surplus army food supplies to European countries.

For the reasons that Americans will not eat canned meats if they can get anything else, there is no market, the secretary explained, for the $1,000,000 pounds of surplus canned meat held by the war department.

"It is believed," said Secretary Weeks, "that in view of the prospect of spoilage, these meats should be disposed of, preferably to nations having fair credit, but, if necessary, to any nation having serious food shortage."

R. R. WAR-TIME WORK AGREEMENTS TERMINATE JULY 1

THIS IS DECISION OF THE WAR LABOR BOARD AS ASKED BY RAILROADS

ASK EMPLOYEES AND RAILROADS TO CONFER AND DRAW UP NEW AGREEMENTS

(By United Press)

Chicago, April 15—War-time working agreements on the railroads of the nation come to end July 1.

This was the realization today following a decision of the United States railroad labor board in abrogating working agreements, and want the workers and employers to get together and draw up a new set of rules.

These rules are to be presented to the board as quickly as they are worked out.

The board on July 1 will bring into effect the new agreements.

The decision ended a long and drawn out fight between employers and the railroad management.

Three months ago W. W. Atterbury, vice-president of the Pennsylvania railroad, and spokesman for the roads, asked that working agreements be abrogated.

The recommendations of the board is considered a "middle of the road" decision. Atterbury also advised that a new set of rules must be drawn up.

Railroad managers declared that he rules were costing the roads close to $300,000,000 a year.

Had to be Legally Adopted to Share In An Estate

(United Press)

St. Paul, April 15—Forty thirty-five years Florence Riechel Henning has believed she was the daughter of Robert Riechel, Waseca county farmer, and his wife.

Today the supreme court held that she had never been adopted legally and could not share in the $6,000 estate.

Records from the Waseca county court show that she went to live with the Riechel family in 1886. Adoption proceedings were started, but final order was never issued by the court. Mr. Riechel died in 1909 and his wife ten years later. The supposed foster daughter must clear the legality of the adoption before she could share in the estate. Two sons oppose the court action. The Waseca county court decided she had to be legally adopted and the supreme court affirmed that decision.

A letter was received from the former sheriff from a point, name not given out, in Alaska. He was in good health, the letter stated, and expressed no intention of returning here. At the time of McIntosh's disappearance, a number of theories were advanced, among them that he had wandered into the woods and became lost, and the possibility of foul play was discussed. County Board Cancels Award to Russell Brothers of Superior and Gives Job to

OSTRAND & HALLETT, CROSBY

Local Gravel to be Used on Road Extending from Crosby to Deerwood, North Shore Serpent Lake

At the county commissioners meeting, according to official minutes, this action was taken regarding the letting of the contract for the cement road extending from Crosby to Deerwood on the north shore of Serpent lake and known as Federal Aid Project No. 113, S. R. No. 6:

A communication was received from the Minnesota Highway Department recommending that Russell Brothers be awarded the contract for constructing F. A. P. No. 113, S. R. No. 6, using gravel from the local pit adjacent to the road.

The board having investigated the standing of said concern and the result of said investigation being unsatisfactory, the contract was on motion, awarded to Ostrand & Hallett of Crosby, as per their bid on local gravel, and subject to the approval of the Minnesota Highway Department and subject to the action of the legislature to enact such legislation as will guarantee that the state will assume the bonds issued by the county to finance said job and pay the interest of said bonds.

Commissioner Syreen offered the following resolution and moved its adoption:

Whereas, The specifications for the construction of F. A. P. No. 73, S. R. No. 2 calls for a ten to one shoulder slope, and

Whereas, There is not sufficient material between the ditch and the pavement to construct such ten to one slope,

Be It Therefore Resolved, That the contractors, McGee-Moos & Company, be instructed to complete said project on the basis of a six to one slope.

Be It Further Resolved, That within the next two years the slope be made ten to one in order to meet Federal Specifications.

Which resolution being seconded by Commissioner Anderson was duly adopted, all members voting "Aye."

On motion, the Board adjourned until Saturday, May 7th, at 2 o'clock p. m.

WHITTIER SCHOOL

Last Meeting of Whittier School Year Held Tuesday Evening, Next One to be Joint Meeting

The Parent-Teachers Association of the Whittier school held its regular meeting April 12. This is the last meeting of the year at the Whittier school as the May meeting is to be held jointly with the other Parent-Teachers Associations of the city at the Washington building. Many expressed an appreciation of the fine programs given and the helpful work done by this organization throughout the year. It is hoped to make the Parent-Teachers Association of ever increasing value to both school and community and members contemplate with enthusiasm the meetings of next winter. Election of officers will be held in the fall.

The following program was presented:

Miss Alice Johnson played "Etude Mignon" by Schutt in a most pleasing and skillful manner. Her encore Prelude No. 7 by Chopin was also delightfully interpreted.

Mrs. E. B. Darling had prepared a very good paper entitled "The Parents' View" which she read. Miss Barrett voiced her thanks in behalf of the teachers for this paper and talked briefly of the teacher's "view" throwing in bits of delicious humor as she talked. Rev. H. J. Wolner then continued the subject in an informal way giving the pupils "view" and convulsed his audience in impersonations of two former school masters he had had.

SUMMER MILITARY TRAINING

Preliminary information regarding the present activities of Gen. Pershing arouses widespread interest. He is engaged, at the suggestion of the government, in working out a new plan for a military system of national defense.

According to an announcement recently made from his headquarters, he contemplates the organization of a great citizens' reserve corps, enlisted and trained on a basis of voluntary service. There would be camps established in various sections of the country, in operation every summer from about the first of August until the first of September. The age limits would be perhaps 16 and 35. Applicants would serve without pay, having their food, uniforms and transportation furnished by the government, and in compensation for their patriotic training and preparedness for military service in emergency would have a useful and healthful summer outing at the expense of the government.

This tentative plan is evidently an extension of the one inaugurated by Gen. Wood before the United States entered the war. It met then with a ready response, even when men had to pay a large part of their own expenses for the privilege of being trained. It should work still better, despite the absence of an impending war, when handled in a more liberal way, with adequate facilities and with the full authority of the government back of it.

It suggests the Swiss system, too, which has provided Switzerland with a well trained and highly efficient citizen army, without maintaining any standing army at all and without a great deal of expense, through seasonal training at such times as not to interfere with the citizens' regular occupations. In Switzerland, however, such training is compulsory.

TRAINS RUN ON TRACKS

(St. Cloud Journal Press)

While there is a responsibility resting upon railroads and municipalities to provide safeguards on grade crossings, the individuals are not without their share. Trains run on definite tracks, and he who travels knows where these tracks are, and that the trains that come along must stay on them for their own safety. Knowing this the driver of animals or of motor vehicles has a duty resting on him to ascertain whether he can cross the track in safety. If an individual gets on the tracks, when just a little attention would have told him of his danger, he is the one to blame, if a train comes along and scatters him over the landscape. He could have kept off the tracks while the train could not. Then there is the auto driver, who occasionally tries to jump a railroad train off the tracks, by running into it with his fiver. No attempt of this kind has ever succeeded, although the result to the auto and its occupants have been painful and sometimes fatal.

There would never be a crossing accident if the people driving across railroad tracks used just a little caution. A law that would compel every driver of a team, auto or truck to "Stop, Look, Listen," would save many lives each year.

People who get in the way of railroad trains must take the consequence. The courts have never yet given a verdict in favor of the fool who tries to drive his auto thru a railroad train.

BUILDING AND THE UTILITIES

Building operations increased 32 per cent in February over January, and while the country has not yet reached "normalcy" in this respect, it is nevertheless encouraging to learn from as good an authority as Bradstreet's that there was a total expenditure for the second month in the year in 146 cities, of $77,840,000. With housing comes a demand for public utility extensions, and it has

The total is reached by combining the estimates of the most reliable authorities in the public utility field.

FARMERS LOSE WAR-TIME PRICE GAINS

The Department of Agriculture established by a recent annual investigation that the average price per herd, all ages, of cattle other than milk cows, was $35.92 in 1917, $44.22 in 1919, and $31.41 in 1921. On January 1, last year, the farm price was $4.51 below that of 1917, some months before this country declared war. Swine on farms declined in the two years 1919 and 1920, 8 per cent of the gain in 1917 and 1918, and two-thirds of the decline was in 1920.

HARBOR FOR SHIPS OF AIR

Artist Has Given Us Picture of Probability of the Not Far Distant Future.

Something very unique in the way of a terminal station for future traveling is suggested in Flight. It is a picture by Roderic Hill showing an aerial terminal, or the "White Moon-line," raised aloft over a seaport. It is not a flat air-drome situated on the surface, but a huge circular structure which towers far above the tallest buildings of the city. On its top-most circumference, platforms swinging on a circular rail bed are carried by two rotating arms on which aero liners light and from which they take off. On the left of this great tower is a passenger elevator with two cars carrying passengers to and from the embarking level. Inside this structure is a huge elevator for lowering the aero liners for refitting and repair, and in its mysterious depths we can picture workshops lit by flickering arc lamps, where hundreds of mechanics work busily day and night. With such terminal as this, the future industrial magnates will be looking up at their captains as each in his respective craft draws near to exchange or deposit the cargo in his care, and then it will be that the dreamer of today will behold the fulfillment of his vision.

Shifting Sand Slide Trouble.

The shifting of the sands of the seashore very often involves expensive litigation. In 1885 the counties of Atlantic and Burlington, of New Jersey, entered into an expensive litigation concerning the boundary between them. There was a dispute as to one of the corners of this boundary. It was stated to be, in the original survey, "the next inlet in the south side of Little Egg Harbor's most southerly inlet, and thence along the seacoast to the line of partition between east and west Jersey." But it could not be found in its original home when they went to look for it, thus bringing up to date the ancient saying about a rope of sand.

More than $25,000,000 worth of butter was manufactured in Omaha during 1920, according to an estimate by the Omaha chamber of commerce, members of which report that the city in Nebraska still retains its position as the chief city of this industry in the United States.

The figures on butter production as given by the chamber for recent years show a steady increase since 1914 when the government census showed that the production for that year was $4,840,840.

Geese Are Good Watchers.

Added to its other virtues, the goose has alertness. Let a stranger approach the yard where geese are being kept and the geese will be the first to give the alarm, even preceding the barking of the watchdogs. History records that in 388 B. C. the shrilling of geese saved Rome from surprise and capture by enemies.

COMMENT ABOUT CHAMBER COMMERCE

The circular letters sent out by the Chamber of Commerce publicity committee regarding the contest over a name and offering a $25 prize for the best one suggested and adopted is attracting attention outside of Crow Wing county.

The Staples World of April 14 states:

"The Brainerd Chamber of Commerce has decided to answer the question, 'What in a name?', by changing it to something else. To many, such a name of Chamber of Commerce and 'Big Biz' are synonymous and it is partly for this reason that our neighbors down the line are to make a change. There is $25 in it for the person who suggests the best name."

The Brainerd Tribune which with Charles Kreech has been one of the severest critics of the Brainerd Chamber of Commerce in the April 15 issue of the Brainerd Tribune said editorially:

"The Chamber of Commerce is 'getting down to brass tacks,' and is doing some excellent work of a practical character. Let the good work continue."

NISSWA

Nisswa, April 14—The saw and lath mill under the management of J. Daugherty has begun sawing again after several months shutdown. Several hundred thousand feet of logs are in the yards ready to be sawed.

John L. Smith of Minneapolis and Long Lake has opened a lumber yard here and is stocking it with both native and western lumber. A full line of building material and mill work will be handled. A large planer and milling machine have been installed in a new building which will manufacture all kinds of dressed and matched lumber.

H. O. Wallentine of the Nisswa garage is building an addition to his garage which will be used as an office and for accessories.

M. V. Baker is building a log bungalow in Nisswa Park on Cullen lake.

Henry Tuttle is building a new house and barn on the scenic highway opposite the depot.

A new lake transportation company has been formed to carry passengers to all points on the Gull Lake chain. Oscar Johnson and Herbert Anderson are the principals in the partnership.

Many new cottages are to be built in Gull Lake Park, four being under construction at the present time.

A large combination boat and bath house and water toboggan slide is to be erected at once by M. V. Baker in Gull Lake Park.

The big new log hotel is well under way at Gull Lake Park. It will be under cover of a huge red roof this week. Hundreds of people took advantage of the good weather and roads last Sunday and visited the park to see the rustic structure.

All the lakes are now open and free of ice, Gull being the last to give in to the scorching rays of Old Sol.

MOTOR LORRY THREATENS LIFE OF BRITAIN'S RAILWAYS

BY EDWIN W. HULLINGER

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

London, April 15—The motor lorry and the railroad are in the first phases of a life and death struggle for existence as the predominant means of transportation in England. The odds are in the former's favor.

The next few decades, perhaps the next decade, will determine whether England's internal commerce is to move largely by means of an elastic, all-encompassing motor transport system, or stick to the present railway system, connecting the larger distributing points.

Transportation men in both camps admit that the fight is on. The issue really dates back to the big railway strike in 1919 when the Food Ministry webbed the entire island with an elaborate motor transport system which worked far in excess of expectations.

That demonstration showed not only that a new method of transportation was possible, but that on account of the peculiar topographical layout of England, the new system might be even better adapted to the needs of the island than railways.

Motor advocates immediately got busy on the development of a permanent system, first as auxiliary to the railways and later to enter into open competition, with the hope of shoving them into the background.

There are many local conditions in England which make the island a particularly favorable test field for motor transport.

England is small. She has the finest road system in Europe. The average haul is short. Most shipments are in small lots, which accounts for the tiny freight cars in use in the railroads. The larger American box-cars would not pay because they would generally travel half-filled. Controlling the world's greatest petroleum fields, Britain would be in a better position to supply her lorries with fuel than any other European country.

It is upon these facts that the motor people predicate their predictions that the lorry will eventually shove the box-car onto the sidetrack.

A third means of freight transport is also looming up in the form of canals. Next to Holland, England has the finest canal system in Europe. It already connects many of her largest cities and is capable of extension. Water always has been and still is by far the cheapest mode of freight conveyance and England's canals could afford commerce an opportunity not to be ignored.

Since the war certain big interests have become aroused to this possibility and important improvements are already in progress along the existing canal system. It will be extended and exploited in the future as a "third arm" of transport.

Aviation doubtless will take over much of the passenger traffic between extremities of the island, such as London to Glasgow or Edinburgh, or Belfast and Dublin, but for the most part England is too small to offer very great possibilities for the aeroplane as an agent of interior communication—in the immediate future, at any rate.

England's place in aviation, according to experts, will be rather as an international air junction, where lines from all parts of Europe may converge.

In this, of course, she will encounter the active competition of France, who has the advantage of more central location. The French air companies have the further head start of a generous governmental subsidy.

This latter has already enabled the French cross-channel air lines to put the British out of business in a rate war. When the Frenchmen recently pulled rates down to six pounds one way (less than $24), the Handley-Page and British Air Company gave up in despair and trundled their machines back into their sheds. No English line is now carrying passengers by air.

World Wants Man of Initiative.

The busy world shoves angrily aside the man who stands with arms akimbo set, until occasion tells him what to do; and he who waits to have his task marked out shall die and leave his errand unfulfilled.—James Russell Lowell.

AT HARRISON SCHOOL

Parent-Teachers Association Meeting on Monday Evening, Fine Program is Given

The meeting of the Harrison Parent-Teachers' Association held Monday evening, April 11th was a great success both from the standpoint of entertainment and efforts toward a better Brainerd.

A piano solo by Miss Worden was delightfully rendered and deserved much praise.

Imogene Boldt, a first grader told the story of "The Untidy Boy" in her sweet, child like way which was most amusing to her listeners.

The vocal solo by Mrs. P. G. Fallquist accompanied by Miss Bredenberg; and the vocal duet by Margaret and Violet Peterson, accompanied by Gladys Holvick, were highly pleasing and graciously applauded.

Alice R. Johnson in her usual talented manner gave a piano solo, and kindly responded with an excellent encore.

M. B. Scherich gave a "heart to heart" talk which was of exceeding significance and true value to the parents. His subject was, "Parents and Teachers' Mutual Responsibility." Suggestions given and action taken during the business part of the meeting showed the parents readiness to accept Mr. Scherich's views and to do their part to better the pastime of the young people of Brainerd.

The high school male quartet with Alice Johnson as their accompanist were a welcome addition to the program. Their numbers greatly delighted the audience.

V. E. Quastrom in his report from the flag pole committee gave the Harrison building the promise of a new flag pole within a very short time.

This was the last meeting of the year, as a joint meeting has been planned for the month of May.

It will be produced for the Elks at the Los Angeles, Calif., national convention this summer.

At Duluth the play will be presented April 14 and 15. The Duluth News Tribune says "an entertainment that promises to eclipse any former one of its kind attempted by Duluth talent, will be staged at the Shrine auditorium the nights of April 14 and 15 when Duluth lodge No. 168, I. O. O. F., will hold its annual minstrel and vaudeville show under the title 'Jollies of 1921'."

"The cast will consist of more than 50 Duluth minstrel and vaudeville stars. The minstrels will be led by Bert Payne.

"A feature of the show will be the vaudeville sketch 'The Awkward Squad' offered by a company of former service men drilled to perfection on how not to be a soldier."

In Brainerd Eugene White is chairman of the "Jollies of 1921" show and will soon have the parts to assign to his company of dramatic talent. There will be instructors to put the company through rehearsals with that pep and spirit which spells success.

GOT THE REAL THING

"For five long years I suffered with stomach trouble and what the doctors called gall stone colic, and all said nothing but an operation would do me any good. A friend who had taken your medicine advised me to try it, and I found it to be the real thing. I feel better than I have in eight years and I am praising God for Mayr's Wonderful Remedy." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Johnson's Pharmacy and druggists everywhere.

HELPED WIN WAR AT A DISTANCE

MANY OFFICERS, KEPT FAR FROM THE FIRING LINE, PERFORMED
ESSENTIAL DUTIES WELL.

BELLINGER'S CASE TYPICAL

Sent to Philippine Islands as Department Quartermaster, He Did Quick and Invaluable Work on His Own Initiative.

By EDWARD D. CLARK.
Washington.—Every little while there come to Washington, either for temporary or for permanent duty, high officers of the United States army who during the participation of the United States in the great war were compelled by force of circumstances to serve with troops at a long distance from the firing line. They were not even given the satisfaction of serving within the boundaries of the United States proper in the work of preparing their fellow citizens for the field of battle.

These men come from the Philippines, from Hawaii, or from Panama. It must not be supposed for one moment that the soldiers of the United States army who were in our non-contiguous possessions during the war did not have their high duties to perform while the American army and the American navy were at grips with the foe. The work that these men did was an essential part of the whole scheme of warfare, and they did it well.

There came to Washington the other day John Bellinger Bellinger, colonel, quartermaster's department, United States army. When the war broke out Bellinger naturally wanted to serve in the field of high action, but although he was in the prime of life and health, and had back of him a record which had secured for him at one time a recommendation that he be made quartermaster general of the United States, he was sent to the Philippine Islands as department quartermaster.

It happens that John Bellinger Bellinger was a classmate of mine at West Point. When one of our classmates discovered that Bellinger's middle name was the same as his last name, he called him "John Bellinger Continue the Motion Bellinger." He has served virtually everywhere that the United States has found places for the detail of its officers.

Not long ago the Philippine senate thanked Colonel Bellinger in a resolution for the high service that he performed while department quartermaster in the islands.

Taking Bellinger's case as an example of others, what was it that this officer did away off in the Far East in order that he might help to solve some of the problems confronting his country in the time of war? He knew, of course, instantly that food was a vital thing in connection with the carrying on of the war to a successful conclusion. Almost instantly on his own initiative he purchased and shipped to the United States by army transports, sugar, China beef, Australian flour and other supplies which could be obtained in the Philippine Islands, China, Japan and Australia. This resulted in introducing speedily into the United States approximately 110,000,000 pounds of food supplies which could not otherwise have reached here, and it included the high necessities of sugar and beef to the amount of $3,165,000 pounds of the one and 3,188,000 of the latter.

Other quick work of this man at a distance was the transfer of certain regiments of American troops from the Philippines to the United States for war service; the replacement of all regular army commissioned officers of the quartermaster's corps in the Philippine department by reserve corps commissioned officers, and the transfer from the Philippines to the United States of all enlisted personnel of the quartermaster's corps who were believed to be qualified for commissions in the reserve corps and for administrative positions in the depot and training camps.

Other things without number were done in the Philippines by Colonel Bellinger and other officers to help win the war for the United States.

Others Elsewhere Did as Well.

As has been said, Bellinger has been singled out because the details of his particular work happened to be known through the resolution which the Philippine senate passed to thank him for his high service to the Philippine people, the people of the United States and the American soldiers during the war. In Hawaii there were officers of the army who worked as Bellinger worked in the Philippines. In Panama it was the same story.

There were officers in the services of all the governments who were engaged in the great war who were denied the high privilege of serving in the field, but who uncomplainingly did their work at great distances and made all things converge to a plan which had for its object the aiding of the campaigns of their respective countries against the enemy. The praise of the British officers in India, South Africa and other places of the far-flung line probably never will be sung. What is true of the British and of some of the French and the Belgian officers is true in the same sense of the soldiers of the American service who, held by the chains of duty in remote regions, did all that in them lay to make victory certain for the armies of their country.

The European Sugar Market Overstocked

(United Press)
Brussels, April 15.—Two years ago Europe suffered sugar shortage. Today every European sugar market is overstocked, according to figures published here.

Every European beet sugar producing country, even Austria, has produced larger crops in 1920-1921 than in 1919-20, with the exception of Russia and the Ukraine, where a decided curtailment is reported.

Statistics issued by the great German sugar magnate, Herr F. O. Licht of Magdeburg, reveals the following situation:

	Tons	Tons
	1920-21	1919-20
Germany	1,090,000	739,548
Czecho-Slovakia	700,000	489,366
Austria	10,000	5,132
Hungary	25,000	8,919
Poland	200,000	140,000
France	325,000	172,495
Belgium	250,000	146,918
Holland	310,000	238,692
Russia & Ukraine	50,000	86,691
Other countries	725,000	697,218
Totals	3,685,000	2,724,179

However, despite the fact that pre-war Germany supplied the bulk of Europe's beet sugar, Germany's production in 1920-21 is insufficient to meet domestic requirements. It is predicted no exports will be possible.

This is because sugar-beet raisers favor selling their product to manufacturers other than sugar refiners, in order to sidestep the governmental control and fixation of maximum prices. Wherefore business is carried on untrammelled with other factories and prices obtained exceeding the government control, on the other hand, will undoubtedly see Germany resuming her place as a sugar exporting nation.

The Book Worm's Bother.

Volumes have been written about the operations of the book worm and prizes offered for some suggestion for preventing their activities, but the book worm still thrives. The books made of pure rag paper, rag and wood fiber, and clay filler—each are attractive to a particular group of insects and the result is that no volumes are immune from their attacks. Many bindings are very attractive to roaches and it sometimes happens that owing to the combined activities of these pests that a book is reduced to a mass of dust.

Many Disappointed Because Not Hired to 'Catch' Scarlet Fever

(United Press)
Chicago, April 15.—One hundred persons were sorely disappointed here today—they were refused their request to "catch" scarlet fever.

The John McCormick Institute called for twelve volunteers who were willing to be inoculated with scarlet fever germs for experiment purposes to isolate germs.

The quota was filled and the experiment started working under Dr. G. E. Dick. The patients will get seventy dollars each if they fail to get scarlet fever, and one thousand dollars for reward if they get scarlet fever.

GOOD CHEER AT WHITE HOUSE

President Harding's Reported Bill of Fare Certainly Smacks of Democratic Simplicity.

It is said that the Harding White House bill of fare will include chicken pie, as the first lady of the land knows how to make it—and waffles, browned to a turn, by the efficient old-fashioned colored cook of the Harding household.

This smacks of democratic simplicity and "homey" housekeeping of the good old days.

The state breakfast and the diplomatic dinner are necessarily more pretentious, and "old-time eating," served in the old-time way, if not altogether discontinued, is so disguised as to make the satisfying plenty of the home table seem like a far-off dream.

But, allowing for the proprieties of state banquets and the like, there is never a distinguished guest of them all but that has come up from plain "home raising," and still remembers the dishes of old days as more to thank God for than all the French refinements of later repasts.

The "homeliness" and heartiness of the former linger with them forever in much the same way as they did with our old friend of the "Uncle Remus" stories when, after a certain notable banquet, and he seldom attended such, he remarked: "Now I'm going home to eat!"—Atlanta Constitution.

TENANT FINDS BURIED MONEY

And Now a Court Must Pick the Owner of Treasure Discovered Hidden in Jars.

Rumors of the finding of a great treasure in the old Holland house here have been confirmed by the find of suit in the Fayette county circuit court by the administrators of the Holland estate against a dozen defendants alleged to have shared in the division of the treasure, which amounted to $21,000, says a dispatch from Nuttallburg, W. Va., to the Pittsburgh Dispatch. Attachments were served on 50 banks in the surrounding section, where the money is believed to have been deposited.

The story of the treasure reads like romance. In the sixties William Holland, veteran of the Crimean war, came to this country from England and settled in the Pennsylvania coal fields. In 1872 he came to Kenney's creek and began the development of a kiln. He built a home here in 1885, where he resided until his death in 1915.

He was an eccentric character, and none of his family knew of his habit of hiding money. He died suddenly of heart failure. After Holland's death the home passed into the hands of William Nelson, superintendent of the coal company, who began repairs and reconstruction. The gold was found in different jars at different times.

Shuts Out Sound.

Persons who wish to concentrate their attention upon studies, business matters or what not, often find themselves most annoyingly distracted by noises of one kind or another. Street traffic may be disturbing; the crying of a baby may irritate, or perhaps the jangling of a clock or the persistent tooting of a car in the neighborhood may induce exasperation.

To obviate this sort of trouble, Galileo Janregul of Bridgeport, Conn., has devised what he calls the "ear silencer."

It is a frame of light construction which may be fixed upon the head in such a way that two screws carrying soft rubber plugs on their ends are inserted into the ears.

When this adjustment has been made exactly right the two screws that carry the rubber plugs enter the wearer's ears horizontally and have only to be tightened sufficiently in order to fit snugly and exclude all troublesome sounds.

American and European Moose.

The Alces Macchis or elk, one variety of which with palmed antlers, found in North America, is commonly known as the moose, lives in the northern portions of both the eastern and western hemispheres. There is a difference, many naturalists claim, between the European and American species, although they approach each other in general appearance in certain cases. To be exactly precise, it would not be perfectly correct to say that what we know as the moose is found in Scandinavia, although he has very near relatives there.
